UNITS Representative:

This is a reminder that next month NUIT will retire Northwestern’s conference bridge service on February 15, 2011.

The legacy conferencing service was created 25 years ago to provide members of the University a means of using designated phone numbers to host conference calls with three or more callers. With advances in secure conferencing-related technologies, the use of conference bridges has become obsolete and must be replaced.

Please encourage your users to begin scheduling audio conference calls through alternative conferencing options already available at Northwestern, including no cost traditional or IP-based conferencing.

For your convenience, a list of these audioconferencing alternatives is available at <http://www.it.northwestern.edu/telephone/conference.html>.
