Subject: UNITS Open House

Please pass along the invitation below or give a call to any University contacts who may be interested in becoming a UNITS representative. A personal invitation from you can help us increase our users' involvement in technology, leading to a more informed and capable community. In addition to becoming the go-to technical person for their department, UNITS representatives have unique opportunities to learn about technology, and are the first to be notified of technical training opportunities and NUIT initiatives, while networking with their peers. New and exciting events are already planned for this year. All levels of expertise and experience in technology are welcome.

Northwestern University Information Technology (NUIT) invites you to attend the first annual UNITS Open House.

Finally put those names to faces! Meet other UNITS representatives from the University community and, and talk with newcomers about the benefits of UNITS.

Get to know members of the NUIT staff, and learn about the exciting events and opportunities that NUIT is planning for UNITS.

If you know others who are interested in becoming a UNITS rep, forward this e-mail and bring them along. All University faculty and staff are invited.

An open house will be held the Evanston campus.

When: March 28, 2003
       2:00 pm - 4:00 pm

Where: Norris University Center, Louis South

Refreshments will be served.
