

The following phishing email was received by members of the Northwestern community on or around April 24, 2019, appearing to be from Northwestern University. DO NOT click on any links or open any attachments and DO NOT respond to this email or any email you suspect is a phishing attempt. As a reminder, Northwestern will never ask for personally identifiable information.

Please check out the How to Identify a Fraudulent Email Scam video on the NUIT Communications YouTube Channel for more information on how to spot phishing email scams.

From: <E-mail intentionally removed by Northwestern IT>

Sent: Wednesday, April 24, 2019

Subject: Spanish Instructor needed for my son

Hello,

How are you doing today? My name is <Name removed>. I came across your e-mail at the Department of World Languages and Literature under Faculty & Staff. I seek for a private instructor for my son <Name removed>. He is 16 years old in his 8th grade, he easily catch up. I will like to know if you will be available for the job or if possible make a reference..i will provide you with more details of my son upon your response..

I've arranged with my caregiver that my Son is coming to stay with him for his period of tutoring and he agreed. Kindly get back with following information if you are interested to tutor him: Total cost of tutoring for 1 months (1 hour per day 2 times/week), your years of teaching experience.

Expecting your prompt response..

Regards