

Northwestern

WILDCATS' JOURNEY TO REMOTE LEARNING

Spring 2020

START

Transition to remote learning announced March 11

Spring Quarter starts April 6

160

Days of remote learning

2,020

Courses

3,148
Course sites created in Canvas

17,041
Students

1,799
Instructors

387,766

Academic and administrative Zoom sessions

13

Searle cohort learning and teaching programs transitioned to online format

N

114,392,660
Minutes

2,855,154
Participants

171
Countries

68
Faculty

500
Undergraduates

98
Graduate students and postdoctoral trainees

3,800

Articles, book chapters, and digital media linked to courses

179

Instructor and student workshops

2,364
Registrants

END

Spring Quarter ends June 13

1,130

Individual consultations

Many thanks to Northwestern's central administrative units and schools for the collective efforts that made the transition to remote learning possible. A portion of the metrics included reflects data provided by Northwestern IT, University Libraries, Searle Center for Advancing Learning and Teaching, and the Office of the Registrar.